The bank specie has been well sustained for some time. The Saturday morning the count gave $4,774,000; but as lew York funds continue in very brisk domaind and smart supply, we shall be fortunate in not looming a consistent supply, we shall be fortunate in the banks have derable som during the current well. The banks have been lending heavy sums for dividends, but, with the been lending heavy sums for dividends, but, with the Bow Year, they have not advanced their rates as much as flew might have done. They continue to receive acceptable Boston notes at six per cent, not taking a great deal of liew York paper upon the whole, but charging exchange in that which is accepted. With their present means, on that have been a second to the freely proporation borrowings and temporarily diminished by conporation borrowings and temporarily diminished by other preparations ento a fresh transactions. Loans on the fancies are essained outside with difficulty, except in cases where the borrowers are strong and the collaterals of the the practical importance. 12 to 18 per cent is a fair range for loans made on copper stocks with fair margins.
